A WINDOW OF OPPORTUNITY

Most great achievements begin with a dream. At SSS we still nurture our dream of a cooler world with uPVC windows. With climate change being the top concern of environmentalists and common citizens alike, we wanted to help make a comfortable difference in a very uncomfortable situation. From here was born our company SSS that helps you face the elements of nature when they are unruly.

But just being another company that offered uPVC windows was not something that we wanted to be.

We made sure that we would do better and offer only the best value to our customers. Soon enough our perseverance paid off and we became channel partners with deceuninck of Belgium.

deceuninck is one of the top 3 players in Europe in its sector, active in more than 75 countries across Europe, North America and Asia. Being channel partners with a global giant has truly helped us understand the true scope of business and the nature of our dealings. Thanks to their support, SSS has already begun evolving as a customer friendly, solution oriented company that looks beyond just profits to make the world better and put a smile on every customer's lips.

VISION

To help one and all brave the elements of nature with the help of new age technology.
